COUNCIL WANTS A BAND

The New Oxford town council, feeling the importance of having a musical organization in the town, have offered to donate free, rent, light and heat, besides making an appropriation of $50 in cash per year, towards the support of the Citizens Band, which we understand will be accepted and the band will be reorganized at an early date.

ESTATE TO BROTHER AND SISTER

The late Aloysius A. Ginter, who died at his home near New Oxford, last Thursday bequeathed his entire estate to his brother Francis A. Ginter and sister Miss Rosa Ginter, with the exception of $100 which be gave to his nephew, A. J. Martin. His brother Francis is named as executor.
The estate will amount to in the neighborhood of $10,000.

CLOSING DAY OF THE ENCAMPMENT

Grand Army Elects Officers and Majority of Veterans Leave for their Homes. All Pleased with Week's Stay here.

After what is conceded to have been one of the most successful Grand Army encampments in recent years the veterans and their families who have spent the last four days here started early this afternoon to leave for their homes and by Friday noon few, if any,
of those here for the annual gathering
will remain in town.

The attendance exceeded recent years,
about five hundred "boys in blue"
being here. The women's auxiliaries also had a very large attendance and numerically the encampment was all that could have been desired.

The business sessions were full of interest for the members and there was just enough of this to keep the pleasures of the week from becoming monotonous. Both the Wizard Theatre and the Court House were elaborately decorated for the occasion while Brua Chapel with its beautiful interior needed no special decorations to make it acceptable. The welcome accorded the visitors was well spoken of on all sides and they leave feeling very grateful for the manner in which they were received.

That Gettysburg will have the encampment next year is generally prophesied though the selection of the place has been left in the hands of the council of administration. If it is held here it will be on June 27 and 28 so that all may remain for the battle anniversary celebration. The lack of a suitable convention hall was never more clearly demonstrated than on Tuesday evening when not more than half of those who wished to get seats at the Court House could secure them.

The veterans and their friends were blessed with delightful weather all week until this morning and the rain then was not sufficient to spoil the pleasure of this year's encampment.
Many were the drives and rambles
over the battlefield which the visitors took during their stay here and the kindness of the weather man contributed in no small degree to the success of the week.

The Women's Relief Corps presented a handsome silk flag to Brua Chapel
on Wednesday afternoon, the ceremonies
taking place on the college campus.
Several speeches were made and Charles D. Fansold, of the class 1912 received the gift. Commander-in-chief Trimble made a short address and the college band played patriotic airs.
The Ladies of the G. A. R. presented a fine portrait of Abraham Lincoln to the High Street school building on Wednesday afternoon, about the first gift of the sort which that portion of Gettysburg's school equipment has ever been given. The presentation was in charge of Miss Naomi Mellon, of Pottsville. Judge Trimble visited this organization also during the afternoon.

The principal work of the closing sessions of all three organizations was
the election of officers:

The Grand Army elected Thomas
H. Cole, of Erie, commander; Noah Detrick, of Easton, senior vice commander; George W. Rhodes, of Harrington, junior vice commander; J.
W. Sayers, of Philadelphia, chaplain; and the council of administration composed of the following, H. T.
Stanwood, John Dougherty, J. Henry
Holcomb, and Alex. M. Appel, of Philadelphia; and J. Y. Chessown, of Pittsburgh.

The Women's Relief Corps elected
Mrs. Frances K. Lewis, of Pittsburgh, president; Mrs. Mame E. Smith, of Lancaster, senior vice president; Mrs.
Ha tie Haines, St. Mary's, junior vice president; Mrs. Jennie Carrington, Oil City, treasurer; Mrs. Susan Dougherty, Reading, chaplain. The following were chosen as the executive committee, Mrs. Devine, of Rolfe; Mrs. Curren, of Franklin; Mrs. Sias, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Holton, of Conestoga; Mrs. Rhodes, of Wilkes Barre. It was decided to pay the expenses of the president, secretary and treasurer to the Los Angeles encampment. Mrs.
Salome S. Stewart, of this place, was elected alternate delegate.

The Ladies of the G. A. R. occupied their closing meetings with matters pertaining to the Home Board. The new council of administration for the Ladies of the G. A. R. is Mrs. J.
Louis Sowers, Gettysburg; Mrs. Ella
Seiser, Wilkes Barre; Mrs. Louella
Dittman, Hemstead.

GOOD MARKET

The Thursday market was another good one. Twenty one stalls were occupied and 70 1-2 bushels of strawberries were offered for sale. Five bushels of cherries and the usual quantity of vegetables and produce were brought in. Green peas made their first appearance for this year.

BEANS 6 cents a quart, corn 6
cents a can, Miller, the cash grocer
and confectioner.

BIGLERVILLE lots for sale. See ad on last page.

GYPSY BAND IN MUCH TROUBLE

Band of Gypsies which Passed through here Gets into Considerable Trouble at New Oxford when they Play Funny Tricks.

The band of gypsies which visited Gettysburg this week went from here to New Oxford where they created some excitement.

While the men were watering their horses, taking refreshments, etc., the women went about the town, playing their game of fortune telling, etc., John J. Dittenhafer was passing up the alley in the rear of the Eagle hotel,
when he was met by one of the "fair damsels," who wanted to tell his fortune. The woman went through the preamble of looking into his hand, tying a knot in handkerchief, and finally induced Mr. Dittenhafer to get out his pocketbook, and while trying to make her believe that he had no money by opening one side of the purse
that contained only a few pennies,
the other side of the purse also opened and displayed some greenbacks.

Mr. Dittenhafer finally started on his way, but to make sure that he had all his money, started to count and discovered that a $10 bill was missing. He accused the woman of having taken it but she denied it and several others of the tribe gathered about him by this time Mr. Fair drove in the alley and was informed of the trouble, and succeeded in getting Mr. Dittenhafer into the buggy shed, and ordered the gypsies away, but they insisted on following, and as Fair drew the doors of the shed shut, one of the women was caught between them and as she was held fast dropped the $10 bill to Mr. Ditten-hafer. She was then let go. It is likely that if Mr. Fair had not come upon the scene the women would have taken all of Mr. Dittenhafer's cash which amounted to over $50.

Two of the women entered the office of Dr. George H. Seaks and secured some headache tablets, and then proceeded with their "game" as usual and succeeded in abstracting a $5 bill from other money the doctor held in his hand. The loss was later discovered, and the doctor had a warrant issued for the woman's arrest by Squire Yeager. Constable Hensel could not be procured for some time, and the gang left the town. The constable and the doctor followed them to Hanover, where the woman was placed under a rest and brought back to New Oxford, where the matter was settled by the gypsies paying back the $5 and costs, which amounted to $5.03, and the woman was allowed to depart with several others of the band who had returned to help her out.

They passed through Cashtown Sunday and made themselves generally troublesome with their efforts to "tell fortunes." From E. W. Hartman they took $5 and he got it back only after threats. They later visited the home of Lewis Carbaugh and took a similar sum from his pocketbook. He had to threaten to knock down the offending gypsy before he could get back his money.

AUTOIST NOT GUILTY

George J. Bushman was called before Squire Harnish on Wednesday evening to answer a charge of having injured C. H. W. Rhine, of Pittsburgh, a tourist, by running over his foot with the big Matheson car. The offense was alleged to have been committed on Chambersburg street Tuesday evening. E. A. Weaver represented the defendant and R. E. While the Commonwealth. Case dismissed for lack of sufficient evidence. County pays the costs.

LIGHTING STRIKES CHURCH

For the second time within a couple of months the York Springs Lutheran church has been threatened with destruction. During the progress of a thunder storm a bolt of lightning struck the steeple and ripped a lot of slate off the cupola and church roof.
Fortunately the bolt did not set fire to any of the woodwork but the services of a steeple jack will no doubt be required to make the repairs to the steeple which is 110 feet in height.

EXHAUSTED PIGEON FOUND

A carrier pigeon was found this morning at the poultry farm of Griest
and Strong, Florida Dale. Its band contains initials W. H. C. No. 6032.
It is seemingly a young pigeon, or wheated from long flight, otherwise in fine condition.

AN organ recital will be given in the Episcopal church this evening at eight o'clock by Donald Phillips, an expert organist of Chambersburg.
Mr. Phillips will be assisted by Mrs.
Zien, soprano; Mr. Hartman, baritone;
and Mr. Lotz, violinist. Silver collection.

BEANS 6 cents a quart, corn 6
cents a can, Miller, the cash grocer
and confectioner.

HOME WEDDING IN BIGLERVILLE

Biglerville Woman Marries Gettysburg Man. Pretty Wedding at Home of the Bride. Many Guests Present.

Miss Geraldine R. Raffensperger,
of Biglerville, and Mervin I.
Trostle, of Gettysburg, were married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H.
Raffensperger. Miss Katherine Winard, of New Oxford, played the Lohengrin wedding march. During the ceremony "The Flower Song" was played.

The bride and groom met under an arch draped with laurel. The parlor was decorated with willows and ferns entwined with pink peonies. The color scheme throughout was pink and white.

Starling Longsdorf was best man
and Miss Margaret Honck bridesmaid.

The bride wore a gown of white embroidered voile and carried a shower bouquet of roses and smilax and Miss Honck, the bridesmaid, wore a gown of dotted swiss over pink and carried pink roses.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Theodore Hesse, of Arendtsville, who used the bride's ritual of the Reformed church.

After congratulations, refreshments were served. Pink and white was the color scheme in the dining room.
Presents were numerous and valuable consisting of cut glass, silver, linen, etc.

The Biglerville Band, of which the groom is a member, gave a delightful concert during the evening.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. P.
H. Raffensperger, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob
Honck, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Detrick,
Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Deardorff, Mrs.
Mary Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. G. H.

Annie Trostle and daughter, Miss Margie, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Swope, of Gettysburg; Mrs. Smith Logan and daughter, Reta, of Locust Point; Mrs.
Lizzie Fickes, of Mt. Holly, Miss Emily Becker, Brooklyn, N. Y.

WILL LIVE IN CALIFORNIA

For the past several years D. A.
Gardner and family have been spending their winters in York Springs.
In the spring they would go to their wheat ranch near Withrow, Washington, and return in the fall of the year.
Mrs. Gardner recently disposed of their household goods and she and two children, Miriam and Harold, left on Saturday to join her husband who had gone west a couple of months ago.
Mr. and Mrs. Gardner will be very much missed in the social and religious life of the town as they do not expect to return for some years but will spend their winters in southern California.

NEW BELL TELEPHONE EXCHANGE

Representatives of the Bell Telephone Co. have completed arrangements whereby an exchange is to be placed in New Oxford in the Smith residence, where the United exchange is also located. The new exchange will be located on the second floor,
and will be in charge of F. S. Smith,
and Miss Bertha Smith and two assistants, who resigned their position as operators for the United, will assume that position in the Bell exchange. The United will remain in the present office, with Misses Anna Robinson and Catherine Starner as operators.

VERY ILL WITH BLOOD POISON

Mrs. Reynolds D. Weaver, of near Hampton, has been a great sufferer from blood poisoning the past week.
While cleaning a fish the forepart of last week the lady received a very slight scratch on one of the fingers of her right hand by a bone of the fish.
Little attention was paid to the wound at first but in a short time it began to cause her great pain and the hand and arm became greatly swollen and inflamed, blood poisoning having resulted.

LOST: three rings: diamond, opal
and medical fraternity ring in ladies' toilet, Eagle Hotel. Liberal reward
if returned to Cremer's florist store.

THOSE TAKEN BY HAND OF DEATH

Miss Margaret Staub Dies at her Home at East Berlin Junction.
Miss Polly Davis, Former Adams
Countian, Dies at Grangeville.

MRS. POLLY DAVIS

Mrs. Polly Davis died Tuesday, at 11.45 p. m., from infirmities, at the home of Samuel Geiselman in Grangeville, having reached the age of 85 years, 10 months and 27 days.

She was the widow of Henry Davis,
who died in McSherrystown about 14 years ago. The members of her immediate family have all passed away
—the only relatives living being a number of nephews and nieces residing in the lower end of Adams county and West Manheim township York county.

Funeral Friday June 7, services at her late home at 9 a. m., Rev. A. M.
Heilmann, of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Hanover, officiating. Interment in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

MISS MARGARET STAUB

After an illness of several years,
from a complication of diseases, Miss Margaret Staub died at her home at Berlin Junction, at 5.45 a. m. Wednesday. Her age was about 41 years.

She was a daughter of the late Leo
Staub and is survived by her mother, Mrs. Catharine Staub, four brothers and two sisters: William, of Hanover;
James, Leo and John, of Berlin Junction; Mrs. John Weaver and Mrs.
Harry Starner, of New Oxford.

Funeral Thursday, June 6, requiem
high mass in the Church of the Immaculate Conception at New Oxford,
at 9 a. m., Rev. Fr. Shields officiating.
Interment in the Catholic cemetery,
New Oxford.

TO SAVE INFECTED TREES

With the advent of Spring, the development and spread of the chestnut bark disease is especially noticeable, and unless chestnut owners learn how to recognize the pest, and promptly remove all cases of the blight, according to the suggestions given to the public through the medium of the press and official publications, it is safe to predict that our native chestnut trees
of Pennsylvania will be doomed to extermination.

In the counties east of the Susquehanna River in Pennsylvania, the conditions are regarded as exceedingly unfavorable and almost hopeless, but west of the river the outlook for saving the chestnut is far more encouraging. If the people of that part of the state co-operate with the Pennsylvania Chestnut Tree Blight Commission by felling the infected bark and brush, thus disposing of the dangerous disease spores, its further spread may be controlled.

All trees showing infections, no matter how slight, should be removed at once and every particle of the diseased bark must be destroyed, but beware of forest fires. This is the most practical and effective method of treating infected trees at the present time, and especially in sporadic cases. So far no spray or application has been discovered that will remove or cure
the disease, although there is no lack of remedies suggested by experiments.
The several experimental plots of chestnut, where various remedies are being tested, are being watched with interest, but thus far, as already stated, no satisfactory or certain cure has been found. The chestnut bark disease is testing scientists to the limit, but it is believed that a remedy will eventually be found.

AFTER 36 YEARS

We take time to Build The PAIGE Right

There's a rule against rushing work in the Paige plant. It is a fixed, established rule, and every Paige workman knows it. Furthermore, every Paige workman obeys it. He wouldn't take the risk of breaking it. The Paige factory rule means a whole lot to you if you are buying an automobile.

We will build only 5000 Paige cars this year. We could turn out three times that number if we were willing to rush things—if we were willing to build haphazardly.

We take the time to build Paige cars right. And it is largely this policy of taking time that is responsible for making the Paige what it is today—the standard of value in the $1000 price field.

Paige cars—built for long and satisfactory service—come ready for service, fully equipped.

Regular Equipment includes top, windshield, 5 black enamel lamps, generator, horn, jack, tools, tire repair outfit. Quick Demountable Rims (set of 5), on touring car models, including tire irons, $15. Same equipment on Roadsters $12.50. (Self-starter and Prest-O-Lite tank installed for $25 if desired).

Six spash, stylish bodies—4 and 5-passenger touring cars, roadsters and raceabouts—prices $975 and $1000. The beautiful LaMarque Coupe $1600. All built on the one Paige chassis and with the one Paige unit power plant.

A NEW MEDICAL EPOCH

Rockefeller Institute Investigator Tells Doctors at Atlantic City Convention of Experiments.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 6. — The third day's session of the American Medical Association was not a bit less important than either of its predecessors, and really the advances which first were disclosed to the profession here marked another epoch in medicine and surgery.

The amazing report of Dr. Alexis Carrel, who is in charge of the research work at the Rockefeller Institute, of New York, surpasses anything that has ever been done in the line of surgery, and the possibilities of his discovery are such that one might almost be led to believe that science had solved the problem of restoring life to the dead.

Dr. Carrel told the surgical section assembled on the steel pier that any time they had occasion to use parts of a human heart, nerves, blood vessels, spleen, skin, and even some of the smaller glands of the body, all they had to do was to order them from the institute and they would be accommodated forthwith. The cornea of the eye, diseased portions of the various bones of the body, cartilages of the knee, which have given out and need replenishing, can be had from this wonderful research laboratory.

There was something almost uncanny as this scientific man told the surgeons and physicians that with the millions that John D. Rockefeller has endowed this institution, it has at last become possible to make these portions of the human anatomy live after they have been taken from the body. Dr. Carrel has worked along the lines laid down by Tufflet, Magtrot and Lawenbaek, famous scientists of Europe, and he has discovered that he can make these tissues and parts of the body live and grow for as long as nine months after the life of the human body from which they have been taken has ceased to exist.

For six years these experiments have been going on, and now that they have been completed and verified the scientific world of medicine receives the opportunity to avail itself of the discovery.

Dr. Carrel discovered that permanent active life of the tissues of the body outside of that organism was not only possible, but that these tissues could be preserved after isolation and still continue to live. At first he began to experiment with animals. A piece of the heart of the chicken pulsed strongly and was viable for 104 days after it was taken from the animal, and microscopic examination revealed the fact that connective tissue was growing from it five months after removal.

From the chicken he turned to the guinea pig, and from that to the dog, then the horse; later the unborn babe was used, to be followed by the infant, and finally man. In each case there was no failure, and step by step he improved upon the media in which he placed these tissues, until he has nine methods of preserving life of structures which have been taken from the body. It is necessary to have as many of these as possible, Dr. Carrel explained, for some tissues will grow better in one medium than they will in another.

The fixed principle which this discovery has established is a new one in science and practically revolutionizes the old theories of animal life. Dr. Carrel has proved that it is possible to transplant after death the tissues and organs which compose the body that has ceased to live into other identical organisms. In this transfer no death of the tissues occurs, and after they have been made a part of a new body they become a constituent part of it and life continues as if it had been there from birth.

The media which are used to preserve these tissues are isotonic sodium chloride, chloride solution, Locke's solution, Ringer's solution, defibrinated blood, serum, confined humid air and vaselin. The color and consistency of these tissues remains perfectly normal six, seven and in some cases ten months after removal.

DOCTORS TO WAR ON FAKE CURE-ALLS

American Medical Society Plans Nation-wide Fight.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 6. — The greatest campaign of legitimate physicians against quacks and charlatans in the profession ever undertaken is about to be started by the American Medical Association, now in session here, according to statements issued from the house of delegates.

Literally tons of evidence against hundreds of "institutes" and other cure-all establishments, including several in Philadelphia, are in safe deposit vaults in Chicago and will be used in the effort to break up impostors on sufferers.

"Men high in the business world of their respective cities, who have been to be backing these fake sanatoriums and institutes, will be included in the list of those whom we intend to arrest," declared Dr. G. D. Green, who has been active in the work of getting evidence. "We find that practically all of the fake establishments for treatment are backed by men with money, and that the 'doctors' whose wonderful cures they advertise so widely are almost always poor, broken-down members of the profession who are receiving sums as small as $20 a month for the use of their names and practicing licenses. The net to catch the crooks has been spread from ocean to ocean, and there will be many sensations when the matter is taken before the federal courts."

SIX SHOT IN STRIKE RIOT

Many Others Injured When Women Attack Railroad Laborers.

Newark, N. J., June 6.—At least six persons were shot and many others wounded by missiles in a street battle here between 150 striking laborers and the police.

Five strikers, a policeman and a citizen are at the City Hospital, most of them suffering from gunshot wounds. A group of Italian women, armed with knives and stones, attacked a gang of laborers at work on the Lackawanna railroad and continued the fight with policemen who came to the laborers' rescue. One of the women was arrested.

The policeman while taking her to the station house encountered a body of marching strikers. They set upon him, released his prisoner, knocked him down and were pelting him with stones when a passerby came to his assistance.

The policeman emptied his pistol into the crowd, which returned the fire. At this moment he was reinforced by a squad of reserves, and the strikers, after bombarding them with stones, fled, leaving five of their number lying in the street. During the fight a citizen was shot in the shoulder. Many arrests were made.

DIAMOND IN FISH'S MOUTH

Philadelphia Fish Dealer Finds Ring In Anglesa Captive.

Philadelphia, June 6.—Howard E. Buzby, of 2929 Ridge avenue, found a diamond ring in the mouth of one of the fish received in a barrel from Anglesa.

Buzby was unpacking the barrel and placing the fish in various bins preparatory to filling several orders, when he noticed one of the fish creatures had a peculiar bulge to its gills. Thinking the fish defective, he threw it to one side.

Some time later he opened the fish with a knife and in its gills found a diamond ring. Buzby says that the owner of the ring can obtain his property upon proper identification.

RIVAL LEADERS CLAIM VICTORY

Taft 595 Delegates, Roosevelt 600, They Say.

TO FIGHT ROOT TO FINISH

Roosevelt Forces to Oppose Senator to Last For Temporary Chairman. Contest Hearings Open Today.

Chicago, June 6.—Managers of the Taft and Roosevelt campaigns signaled their arrival in Chicago for the Republican national convention and the opening of hearings on contests today by issuing statements, each claiming sufficient delegates to nominate his candidate.

William B. McKinley, manager of the Taft campaign, was the more explicit in his statement. He declared that President Taft would have 595 delegates, 55 more than the number necessary to nominate, on the first ballot. The remaining delegates were distributed as follows: Roosevelt, 427; La Follette, 39; Cummins, 10.

Senator Joseph M. Dixon, in charge of the Roosevelt campaign, declared that the colonel would have approximately 600 delegates, but he did not prepare a detailed table.

Senator Dixon declared "the nomination of President Taft is physically and humanly impossible with the delegates elected."

Congressman McKinley added that the personal presence of Colonel Roosevelt in the convention "would only make the outcome more certain against him."

Senator Dixon insisted that the Roosevelt men "absolutely control the convention without taking the contest delegates into consideration."

Senator Dixon outlined the Roosevelt program. He declared the Roosevelt forces would fight to the last in the effort to overthrow Senator Root for temporary chairman of the convention; that they would take no part in the effort to seat new members of the national committee to defeat Victor Rosewater, of Nebraska, for chairman of the national committee or to procure control of a majority of the members of the committee.

R. B. Howell, of Nebraska, is attempting to capture Chairman Victor Rosewater's place on the national committee. This plan is certain of defeat, according to leading members of the committee. William L. Ward, of New York, who will be a leader in the Roosevelt ranks, said he believed the committee would quickly dispose of the case, adversely to Mr. Howell's claim.

The Roosevelt manager denied many current stories regarding Colonel Roosevelt's plans and asserted that "no statements will come from any source but my office," as to the plans of the Roosevelt forces. He held a short conference with Roy O. West, chairman of the Illinois Republican state central committee, and later declared that at least fifty-six of the Illinois delegates would aid Colonel Roosevelt in the fight against Senator Root. He said:

"The vote against Senator Root is part of the moral support which men pledged to Roosevelt must give, if they are to carry out the spirit of their instructions and pledges."

"Believing in the perfect fairness of the members of the national committee, we have no fear in resting our contests upon their decision," said Senator Dixon.

"We have no mental reservations in saying that they will try in a judicial spirit the 200 contests now pending before that body and that they will decide them according to their merits."

The talk of a bolt from the convention by the Roosevelt forces he designated as "junk." He continued: "We have control of the convention irrespective of the contested seats, so all that kind of talk is 'junk.'"

LORIMER GREETES FOES

Shakes Hands and Chats With Senators Who Seek to Unseat Him.

Washington, June 6.—The Lorimer case was put aside in the senate while Senator Kern, who is making a two-days' speech against the Illinoisan, gave way to Senator Page for a speech on a vocational education bill.

Mr. Lorimer left his seat on the Republican side and, crossing the aisle to Senator Kern, shook hands with the man across Senator Chamberlain's desk.

"I suppose," said Senator Chamberlain, "that you think each of us who is going to vote against you is a deuce of a fellow?"

"Not at all," returned Senator Lorimer, with a smile; "I don't think so at all."

For five minutes the three members chatted gaily, Lorimer's face wreathed in smiles.

OLD STAGES OF NEW YORK

Many Years Ago They Were Operated Regularly Between Metropolis and Other Cities.

In excavating underneath the former Tallman livery in New York recently workmen found a number of straps such as were used in former days on the stage coaches which plied between Albany to Buffalo.

The straps are supposed to have been made at the Sherwood establishment, which many years ago stood at the northeast corner of State and Dill streets. S. C. Tallman said he believed the straps to be at least 75 years old, and to have lain where they were found probably for that length of time or longer.

It was in 1809 that Isaac Sherwood of Skaneateles became a partner of Jason Barker of Utica in conducting the stage line which passed through this county, carrying the United States mail. It is recorded that in 1816 a line of coaches, among the proprietors of which was the firm of Isaac Sherwood & Co. of Auburn, was operated between Canandaigua and Utica.

These coaches passed over what was known as the Seneca turnpike, constructed between the two points named. It was designed to build this road six rods wide, the middle 25 feet of it to be covered with gravel or broken stone to a depth of 15 inches. The Seneca Turnpike company was authorized to erect a toll gate every ten miles and exact 12½ cents toll for two-horse teams and 25 cents for four horses.

From Utica east a tri-weekly stage line was operated to Albany, and this likewise was controlled by Sherwood & Co. and others.

The corner of State and Dill streets was a great center for stage coaches in the early days. Various other lines besides the turnpike stages converged in Auburn, there being stages to Homer, Ithaca, Oswego, Aurora and other places. It was in that day that the fight broke out between the Pioneer Line, as a new competing company was called, and the Sherwood combination.

The Pioneer Line gained control of the principal hotel in the village, known as the Western Exchange, hoping thus to embarrass its rivals. But the Sherwood interests fitted up the Bank of Auburn, as it was known, for their headquarters. An issue of this campaign was the question of running stage coaches on Sunday.

IT ASTONISHED THE COOK

Marvelous Appetite of "Mr. Clarendon," Whose Name Was Reported to Kitchen's Best.

J. Hayden Clarendon, eating his three meals in a German grill of much renown, has, day by day, extended his acquaintanceship from the steward to each of the waiters and from thence into the kitchen to the cooks. And it so happened a while ago that one of the cooks had had to send his wife to a hospital. Clarendon, ever thoughtful, bought flowers and sent them out to the kitchen to be forwarded thence to the hospital.

This, of course, made him more than solid with the culinary department of the big restaurant, with the result that whenever a waiter announced that the order was "for Mr. Clarendon" the cooks would go to the limit in getting him the best steaks and chops and serving them as works of art.

The waiters weren't slow in learning that the word "Clarendon" was the passport to the kitchen's best—the open sesame, as it were.

So it happened that one afternoon a waiter came into the kitchen with the order:

"T-bone steak, rare, for Mr. Clarendon."

The man at the broiler threw up his hands.

"What's come over Mr. Clarendon?" he asked in astonishment. "He has had two porterhouse steaks, boiled salmon, ham and eggs, three oyster stews, sanddabs, chops, and now he wants a T-bone steak—and all in an hour!"—San Francisco Chronicle.

Wild Bird Returns to Captivity.

Are birds able to think and remember where they have been well cared for? A gentleman living in Leith is in the habit of feeding the birds which frequent his garden during the winter months. Some time in January, 1911, he enticed a greenfinch to enter a cage and so captured it. It was wearing a ring on its leg marked "Aberdeen University, 7185."

In the following March he set it at liberty, declares a correspondent of The Scotsman. He was much surprised when on January 13, 1912, the bird returned. On his cage being presented to him, the bird hopped contentedly into it and settled comfortably down for the severe season. An examination of the ring left no doubt as to the identity of the bird.

Waste in Coal Range.

Economic waste, represented by the coal range, was strikingly illustrated in tests made recently at the London electrical exposition. Demonstration proved that the shrinkage of meat when cooked in a coal range is surprisingly great. A leg of mutton weighing eight pounds and eight ounces showed a shrinkage of two pounds and eleven ounces when cooked in the coal range, whereas a leg of mutton weighing nine pounds showed a loss of one pound and four ounces when cooked in an electric oven. The shrinkage for the gas oven was two pounds and four ounces on an eight-pound leg of mutton.

A Reforming Influence.

"That automobile I bought has been doing wonders for me," said Mr. Chuggins. "Fresh air and all that sort of thing." "It has benefited me morally as well as physically. It has led me to avoid intoxicants and to lead a life that will insure me as beautiful an obituary as possible."

George Jeffreys—The "Demon Judge"

A TEN-YEAR-old English schoolboy in 1658 watched a gorgeous procession of robed judges march past his father's door. He walked into the house with the announcement that he intended to be JUDGE JEFFREYS a judge. Young as he was, the lad—George Jeffreys—was already accustomed to have his way. He bullied or cajoled his parents into giving him a costly school education and a law course that they could ill afford. Thus started a career that was to cost England many hundred innocent lives.

From the very first young Jeffreys was a man of mark. He was brilliant, strikingly handsome, and had an almost supernatural power of reading other men's minds and purposes. He took scant pains to study and never had much real knowledge of law. But his cleverness supplied what his learning lacked.

He took up criminal practice and handled cases no decent lawyer would touch. He had a genius for making influential friends. Through these friends and his own cunning he rose fast in his profession. At last he attracted the notice of the easy-going, unscrupulous King Charles II. Charles despised Jeffreys as a man, but was not above using the young lawyer to do his dirty work. A strong faction of the people were the king's political opponents. Jeffreys publicly declared himself the people's friend and secretly worked for the king. From both factions he received high rewards.

By the time he was thirty he was a baronet and Chief Justice of England. Then he threw off all pretense of decency. His drunkenness, his insane temper, his insolence made him generally loathed. He could cry at will. Often in court he would browbeat witnesses with a volley of filthy, bitter, blasphemous sarcasm, make the jury tremble by a maniac glare of his black eyes, foam at the mouth with rage, then break into a spasm of loud laughter or into a flood of tears.

When Charles II. died without direct heir the dead monarch's younger brother took the throne as James II. Jeffreys had already curried favor with James and now rose to higher power than ever. James made him a baron and showered favors on him. It was during this king's reign, in 1685, that Jeffreys enacted his vilest crimes. The Duke of Monmouth had laid claim to the English throne and had fooled thousands of simple-minded farmers and shop folk into joining his rebellion. The uprising was crushed. The duke was beheaded. His captured followers were brought before Jeffreys for trial. Then came a horror still known as the "Bloody Assizes."

Jeffreys (first making his work easier by falsely hinting that those who pleaded "guilty" would be spared) condemned to death 320 men and boys. (Some historians say 700.) These were hanged after a mere mockery of a trial, during which Jeffreys alternately raved, cursed, drank, wept, howled with laughter and behaved in general like a madman. Even the hardest-hearted servants of the king were horrified by such slaughter—the more so since many of the condemned were innocent people who had taken no part in the rebellion. Jeffreys was ordered to be more lenient. So he sent 841 of the remaining prisoners to be sold into slavery in India and the Barbadoes and had the rest scourged or thrown into jail.

Throughout the trial he spared any one who could pay him a large enough bribe. But few of these country folk and tradesmen could raise such sums as he demanded. For his work at the "Bloody Assizes" Jeffreys was made Lord Chancellor of England. He boasted that as chief justice he had hanged more men and women than all his predecessors put together.

Three years later the English people grew tired of James II. and overthrew him. He fled into exile. Jeffreys, knowing how he himself was hated by the people, tried to get secretly out of England. He shaved off his shaggy eyebrows, dressed as a sailor and boarded an outgoing ship. But on the eve of sailing he went ashore and got drunk in a waterside tavern. A poor writer whom he had once unjustly punished recognized him.

"It is the bloody judge!" shouted the writer.

The mob hurried themselves upon the disguised Jeffreys and were tearing him to pieces when the authorities rescued him. He was taken to the Tower of London and imprisoned there, until at the age of forty he drank himself to death. Though he had ten children his family soon died off. His own name, however, is still remembered and cursed throughout England.

The time to let out a link is when "they" are hoping you'll curl up!

Unduly Suspicious.

"Gwendolen, have you been out driving with a young man?"

"Yes, auntie."

"Humph!"

"But he had only one arm that he could use, auntie; he had been vaccinated on the other one."

(Pause.)

"Gwendolen, didn't you do the driving?"

Not a Happy Thought.
"Yes," said the preacher, "money is the root of all evil. It is dross. When money was invented a curse was laid upon mankind. It is a stench in the nostrils. The Lord saith: 'Ye have sold yourselves for naught, and ye shall be redeemed without money.' The collection will now be taken."

The Best Proof

Gettysburg Citizens Cannot Doubt It.

Doan's Kidney Pills were used—they cured.
The story was told to Gettysburg residents.
The evidence has strengthened the evidence.
Has proven the cure permanent.
The testimony is home testimony—
The proof convincing.
It can be investigated by Gettysburg residents.

Mrs. T. C. Biddle, 68 E. Middle St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "Two years ago I publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills and at this time I am glad to confirm my former statement. A member of my family was in bad shape with kidney complaint and was laid up for eight weeks. Backache was almost constant and there were severe pains through the loins. After several remedies had been tried to no avail, Doan's Kidney Pills were procured at the People's Drug Store and their use was begun. Relief soon followed and there was a remarkable improvement in every way. My advice to anyone afflicted with kidney complaint is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

VAST WEALTH GOES TO WASTE

Annually Hundreds of Thousands of Tons of Sulphuric Acid Are Carried Off by Streams.

One of the most interesting of the byproducts of the coal mine is sulphuric acid. Coal veins contain sulphur, most commonly in chemical combination with iron. The poorer the coal the more sulphur is there. Such compounds, becoming oxidized, form sulphuric acid, great quantities of which in a free state are continually draining from the mines into the rivers.

This sort of thing is going on at such a rate that the amount of sulphuric acid carried away by the streams of the coal region of Pennsylvania in the course of a year has been estimated by the water resources branch of the government geological survey at 970,000 tons—a quantity equal to more than two-thirds of the total sulphuric acid consumed in a twelvemonth in the United States for industrial purposes.

Sulphuric acid has many uses in the arts. Among other things, it is employed to clean iron before the latter is galvanized; likewise in the treatment of sheet iron for making tinware, and the wire for fences and nails. For these and other purposes 75,000 tons of it are consumed annually in and about the city of Pittsburgh.

Mark, then, the pity of the circumstances that, as determined by the government exports, no less than 95,000 tons of sulphuric acid flows in a year past the town of McKeesport, in the Youghiogheny river—that is to say, 20,000 tons more than is utilized industrially in Pittsburgh and its vicinity during the same period.

To put the case otherwise, fully $1,200,000 worth of sulphuric acid, produced by nature, is carried away every year by one stream in a neighborhood where the same stuff is required for use by thousands of tons in factories. Here is a problem for the industrial chemist to solve—the obvious difficulty in the way being that the solution of acid is so very dilute that attempts to concentrate it would be likely to prove unprofitable.

Incidentally, the acid robs the streams of all their oxygen, kills the fishes, and attacks structures of iron. It literally eats up bridge piers, lock gates, etc., and at the present time is making a lot of trouble in the government canals along the headwaters of the Ohio.

Gave Tip on Hair Dressing.

The exhibit of the special school for truant and incorrigible boys at the child welfare exhibit has attracted much attention, and there are frequent inquiries concerning the boys themselves who have been greatly changed by their training in the school, says the Indianapolis News. The following story was told at the exhibit.

An incorrigible youngster, who while in the public schools had caused nervous breakdowns and discouragement among the teachers, and who had gained for himself the name of "the worst boy in the city," approached an instructor of the special school and said:

"I wish to speak with you."
"All right," said the teacher.
"When, right now?"
"It is about your hair," said the boy, who seemed to have developed into something of an art critic. "They quit wearing rats down on Geisendorf street last June. Suppose you part it in the middle, fuss it up on the side and fix it somehow behind."

On another day the same boy looked closely at the teacher's coat as she entered the room in the morning. There was an expression of disgust on his face.

"Same dress! This is passing day, and I wore my good clothes," he said.

Making Weather to Order.

There is a possibility that at some dim and distant date we shall be able to provide weather to order. At any rate, a speaker at the Institution of Electrical Engineers in London held out a hope that this wonderful and scientific problem can be solved.

The suggestion is that by means of applied electricity clouds approaching our coasts shall be dispersed and prevented from crossing the country. In other words, the clouds would be broken and made to disgorge their moisture at sea.

The electrical defense of our coasts, if established, could be used at will, but the principal trouble would be the pleasing of everybody. Where one farmer, for example, would require rain, another might demand fine weather.

Undoubtedly if weather control were required scientists would proceed with their invention; but at present there seems no possibility of the nation at large requiring weather to order, for what suits one man does not suit another.

Its Observance in Public Is Common Among Eastern Christians, as Among Mohammedans.

The Bishop of London has been praising the openness with which Mohammedans practice their religion. He would like to have mats in the theatrium for bishops to kneel on to say their prayers in public. Eastern Christians, as the bishop must have observed when in Russia, are quite as open in religious observances as Mohammedans. Nobody thinks it eccentric for a man to kneel down in a crowded street in order to say his prayers before some icon. Passengers cross themselves when their train or tram starts. No man ever passes through the Gate of the Savior, leading into the Kremlin at Moscow, without uncovering. In Poland the common greeting of the country people one meets on the lonely roads across the salt plains is "May Jesus Christ be praised," and it is the custom to reply, "For ever and ever." In Vilna people are to be seen kneeling in the street before the Ostrabranska gateway to pray before the picture of the Virgin and child, seen through a window high in the gate. This shrine is a Catholic one, but even the orthodox bare their heads to walk up the narrow and crowded street leading to it.

DUCHESS CONNAUGHT HAS PERITONITIS

Her Condition is Grave Owing to Her Age.

Montreal, Can., June 6.—That the Duchess of Connaught is suffering from a grave attack of peritonitis, brought on by a sudden attack of appendicitis, is the result of the diagnosis of the three doctors who have had her royal highness under observation since her arrival at the Royal Victoria hospital.

This statement was made at the hospital: "The vice regal staff make no secret of their apprehension and are waiting with the keenest anxiety the final report of the medical men as to the necessity or otherwise of an operation." This, however, the doctors are unable to decide for the next two or three days, it is stated.

Cases of peritonitis brought on by appendicitis are invariably grave, and the duchess' age renders the condition graver than if she were a younger woman. The duke is making brave efforts to conceal his own nervousness. The governor general was at his wife's side and the princess followed later on.

An official statement from the hospital said that her highness was "resting easily."

SENATOR NIXON DEAD

Passes Away in Washington Hospital After Short Illness.

Washington, June 6.—Senator George S. Nixon, of Nevada, died at the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat hospital in Washington, after an illness of less than a week.

The senator was operated on last Thursday for the removal of a nasal abscess. Blood poisoning and meningitis set in. Previously he had been in poor health to all appearances and was bent his official duties in the senate.

Hope for his recovery was practically given up Monday night, and the senator's wife, who was in San Francisco, was advised by wire and left for Washington at the earliest opportunity, accompanied by her son.

Knew It Was an Idle Threat.

"Then," he cried tragically, "then you reject me? And for my hated rival?"
"Yes," she answered, coldly, but colloquially. "Yes to both questions."
"Ha! Then I owe the fellow a grudge. I have long owed him $10. And now I will pay both debts at once and he will fall dead!"
Lighting his cigarette at the hall gas jet, he departed with a mocking laugh.

4 BATTLESHIPS ORDERED TO CUBA

President Directs They Proceed at Once to Island.

MARINES GO TO INTERIOR

Four Hundred and Fifty Bluejackets, Under Command of Colonel Lucas, Go to Guantanamo City.

Washington, June 6.—The gravity of the situation in Cuba, demanding action by the United States forces, was shown by the decision of the government to dispatch at once four battleships to Cuban waters, and to move United States marines into the interior of the disturbed island.

After a conference between President Taft and Secretary Knox at the White House it was announced that the government would immediately dispatch four American battleships to Cuba.

Four hundred and fifty American marines, under command of Colonel Lucas, were landed at Doses Point, close to Caibarien, from which point they proceeded by train for Guantanamo City.

The announced purpose of the movement is to guard American property and not for intervention.

Admiral Osterhaus, commander of the Atlantic fleet, was ordered to send one of his divisions to Guantanamo. The admiral is at Key West with the flagship Washington and the third and fourth divisions of the fleet.

Admiral Osterhaus notified the navy department that he has designated the battleships Missouri, Mississippi, Minnesota and Ohio, the fourth division of the Atlantic fleet, to go to Guantanamo. He does not say when the ships will leave. Rear Admiral Nathaniel R. Usher commands the division.

While battleships are ordered to Guantanamo, where the American marines were landed, their field of operations will not be confined to that port. President Taft's decision to dispatch the squadron to Cuban waters was reached because of the need of precautionary measures and not with any intent to intervene at this time.

Another point brought out in the conference was the absence of satisfactory telegraphic communication with American vessels now near Cuba. The high power wireless apparatus on the battleships will make such communication with naval stations in the United States much quicker.

It was stated at the navy department that another principal consideration in sending four battleships to Cuba was that the force of marines at Guantanamo would be largely increased. Each of the big ships carries a full quota of marines. It is not the intention of the government to make a naval demonstration.

Secretary Knox's conference with President Taft and the order for sending the ships followed closely a conference Mr. Knox had with M. H. Lewis, president of the Guantanamo & Western railroad, who had earlier talked with General Wood.

Cablegrams from managers of Mr. Lewis' properties near Guantanamo report the conditions growing more serious. His railroad manager reported the burning by the rebels of the railroad station at Olympia, as well as an unconfirmed rumor of the burning of the town of Tiguabua, near Guantanamo. Mr. Lewis was careful to explain that he did not favor intervention, but only demanded protection for his property.

LACKS 500 TO SEE SON

Aged Mother Cannot Visit Youth Before He Is Hanged.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 6.—Mrs. Michael Bishie, mother of William P. Bishie, who is to be hanged at Scranton on June 29 for the murder of Irvin Berger, an express messenger, cannot visit her nine-year-old boy before the hanging, because she has not $50 cents to pay her carfare from here to Scranton.

The Bishies are poverty stricken. The son was the sole support of his father, mother and two sisters. The father, Michael Bishie, is in a dying condition. The daughters are too young to work, and the family has been forced to give up its home because the rent could not be paid. Mrs. Bishie has gone to live with her sister, who is also poor.

Mrs. Bishie has given up all hope of taking the body of her son for burial and will be content if she can arrange for a visit to the boy before he pay the penalty of the law.

Wants Weather Bureau Probe.

Washington, June 6.—Representative Theron Akin, of New York, introduced a resolution asking that a special committee investigate Willis T. Moore, chief of the weather bureau. He alleges that the service suffers from mismanagement and that Moore made false statements to congress.

J. White Thompson For Judge.

Washington, June 6.—J. White Thompson, United States district attorney of Philadelphia, was nominated judge for the eastern district of Pennsylvania by President Taft, and John C. Swartley, his assistant, was named to succeed him.

But the Beau Did Not Get It.

She knew he could never carry out his devilish scheme. For she knew that he never had $10 at once in his whole life.

A Short Trip.

"Dibbles started to church last Sunday."
"That was a step in the right direction."
"True, but unfortunately a step was as far as he went."

HARMON GETS ALL OF OHIO'S 48 VOTES

Democratic State Convention Adopts Unit Rule.

Toledo, O., June 6.—By the adoption of the unit rule the Democratic state convention bound all of the forty-eight delegates from Ohio to the Democratic national convention to vote for Governor Harmon for the presidential nomination.

In the recent primaries Governor Wilson, of New Jersey, won nineteen of the district delegates, but these men will now be compelled to vote for Harmon.

The vote, showing the strength of the Harmon and Wilson factions came on the question of substituting the minority for the majority report from the committee on resolutions. The minority report would have bound only the delegates at-large. This was rejected by a vote of 597 to 357. The majority report, applying the unit rule was then adopted by a viva voce vote.

This action was taken after a bitter debate. An effort to upset the convention's instructions may be made in the national convention by the anti-Harmon men, who assert that it is a direct violation of the spirit of the primary election law.

SHOE TRUST RUINED HIM

Tells House Committee Combine Controlled Government Contracts.

Washington, June 6.—John McCreary, a former shoe manufacturer of Philadelphia, told the house committee on expenditures in the war department that the control of the "trust" over government contracts for army shoes had ruined his business. McCreary said:

"I was ruined after I refused to enter a combination of manufacturers to raise the prices of shoes for the army."

Although he underbid Hermann & Co., of Boston, on a large contract McCreary said he did not receive the award.
